EXPERIENCE

Imran has an experience of around twenty years in the banking & finance sector, with wide ranging commercial experience as an advisor and advocate, emphasizing particularly on banking, financial services, regulations, corporate and commercial laws.

He has previously worked with and represented major companies in some of the region's high-profile bankruptcy, financial restructuring and insolvency cases, including representation of lenders and borrowers, bondholders and other creditors.

Most recently, Imran has worked on Islamic and conventional investment funds and banking transactions in the Dubai International Financial Center and Abu Dhabi Global Markets.

He has extensive knowledge of the regional regulatory environment that underpins lending to provide sector-specific legal advice to various industries including retail and manufacturing on receivables and inventory financing, secured financing and equipment financing transactions.
